Finally, Flagey brings Andy Warhol's Factory back to life with the multimedia performance Factory Happening 1964-2014. The original Factory was a drug-fuelled NYC laboratory filled with genuine talent, like filmmaker Paul Morrissey and experimental rock group The Velvet Underground, as well as would-be artists and parasitic hangers-on. Nevertheless it set the bar for modern art for a half-century. This nostalgic romp combines film, live music and poetry (but not, one presumes, the psychedelic drugs).
